

PASSION MADE TO MEASURE: RAUMPLUS IN-HOUSE EXHIBITION IN ITS ANNIVERSARY YEAR

Under the motto “Passion made to measure – together into the future”, raumplus, a German manufacturer of sliding doors, partition walls, wardrobes and room solutions, is once again presenting exciting products and innovations at its in-house exhibition this year. From 19 to 27 September, visitors can look forward to raumplus’s newly designed, 150-square-metre showroom in Verl, Germany.

Bremen, 19 September 2026. This year at raumplus, newly staged living environments showcase the interplay between storage space and bespoke interior design solutions. Here, tried-and-tested solutions meet the latest product developments and new design possibilities.

New panels and surfaces for doors and interior systems

New panels will be available for sliding and aluminium-framed hinged doors from 1 February 2027. Additional surfaces for wardrobe fronts and sides open up a wide range of design possibilities. The new range, which has now been unveiled at the in-house exhibition, will include, amongst other things, plain surfaces, Urban Structures, leather, veneers and selected special collections.

New possibilities for the modular system miio

Whilst the new brand CUB+IQ by raumplus was unveiled to the public for the first time last year, several new additions are expanding the portfolio for this year's in-house exhibition. New modules, door systems and design elements are set to offer greater flexibility by meeting modern living requirements and will be available to order from 1 January 2027.

The new home office design element, featuring integrated sockets and lighting, and the corner module for even more storage space offer additional functionality for everyday life. In addition to the hinge doors previously available, the miio range is now expanded to include aluminium-framed hinge doors with various panels, as well as sliding doors.

"We are particularly looking forward this year to presenting our new living concepts and exciting new products to our partners and prospective customers at our in-house exhibition," says René Spies, Sales Manager for Germany, Austria and Switzerland, on the occasion of raumplus's 40th anniversary.
